For
As our last interview, let's hear from Jerry Locke, who had a lot to say about ~~the position of the individual.~~ how we felt about Circle or an individual.

Special events often bring prominent individuals to campus, such as internationally known psychologist Jean Piaget, or Ramsey Clark, former Attorney General of the United States, recorded here as CP who spoke here ~~here~~ strongly against during the late days of the Nixon administration ...

in the special things I offer.

But of course each individual must find the things that are right for him.

U HAS LOTS INFO

* university naturally has its own forms of communication speech
as well as its own transportation problems.
80278

To get the flavor of what students think of Circle we went out with a small tape recorder and asked them. Sorry about the sound quality, ~~but these were unrehearsed rem~~ but these unrehearsed remarks may give you a feel of the place from the inside.

For instance we asked Steve Schmidt and Jim Hughes...

~~Then~~ We also talked w. Margaret Carillo...

Alfred Moore is a theatre officer, at the U.S. Marine Corps.

[illegible?]

But of course it is the courses, and the contact between students and faculty, that make the university what it is.

80278

Big lectures can't be avoided, especially in the introductory courses, but they can still be made interesting as more, more Smaller classes, as illustrated in his lecture on thermodynamics by a drunken bird toy.

But above the introductory level the classes get smaller, and students and faculty in closer contact

Circle also makes a big part of access to frontier areas of modern technology.

At higher levels, many classes allow close contact with faculty

Courses

In introductory courses
Big lectures can't be avoided
but they may, for instance, (be made more enjoyable)
as here, with the daily hint...

8078

A strong point
Affords students close access to frontier areas
of modern technology

Circle has naturally a wide variety of student activities

Athletic facilities, such as the two swimming pools, are there to be used but people are need [illegible] a little push to get into them...

What you are about to see is a blatant attempt to influence your mind. Pay close attention to make sure you don't get rooted.
That is.
Deep in the darkness of a certain
midwestern city, University
seemly lies in wait Somehow very large. Somehow not long surrounded by thousands of innocent human beings.
Perhaps it is waiting — for you.
Careful now — who was that?
Huh lol, just a professor,
but soon the sun will rise, and these strange buildings will open once again
to reveal their secrets.
for this is a place where things
are made known to those who are ready.

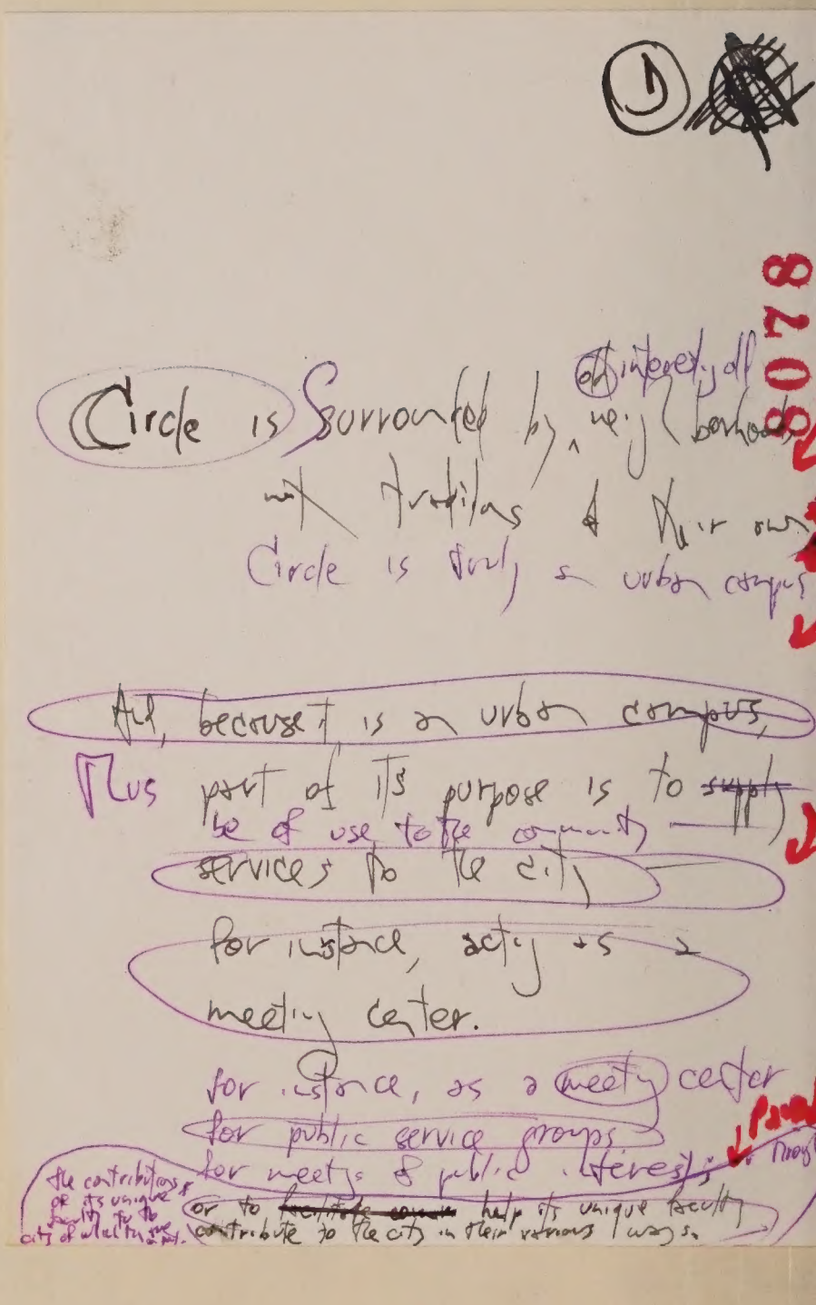
It's a good idea



Circle is surrounded by neighborhoods with Circle is truly an urban campus
And, because it is an urban campus,
Thus part of its purpose is to be of use to the community services to the city
for instance, acts as a meeting center.
for instance, as a meeting center for public service groups
for meetings of public interests or to help its unique faculty contribute to the city in their various ways.

A university is a bunch of colleges and other educational institutions upper-level schools huddled together for safety and convenience.

6 Colleges
2 Schools
2d a couple of Centers

Circle's ~~six of~~ half-a-dozen colleges
and ~~bead~~ clutch of Schools and Centers offer bachelor's degrees in ~~dozens of flavors~~ and possess writers of 28 flavors of Master's degrees and sixteen different doctoral specialties.

What is this place doing in a place like this?
(After sunrise) It's serving greater Chicago with knowledge and degrees.
This is the University of Illinois
at Chicago Circle,
the urban campus of the University of Illinois,
Sometimes called Circle Campus, or just Circle, a place of rather different architecture
and some 20,000 students
and some
and some
and colorful student body.
It's called Circle because there used to be a traffic circle somewhere around here University that offers at what is now
the diverse intersection of Interstates 90 and 94.
now it's a cloverleaf where the Interstates cross
A university is basically a collection of separate colleges
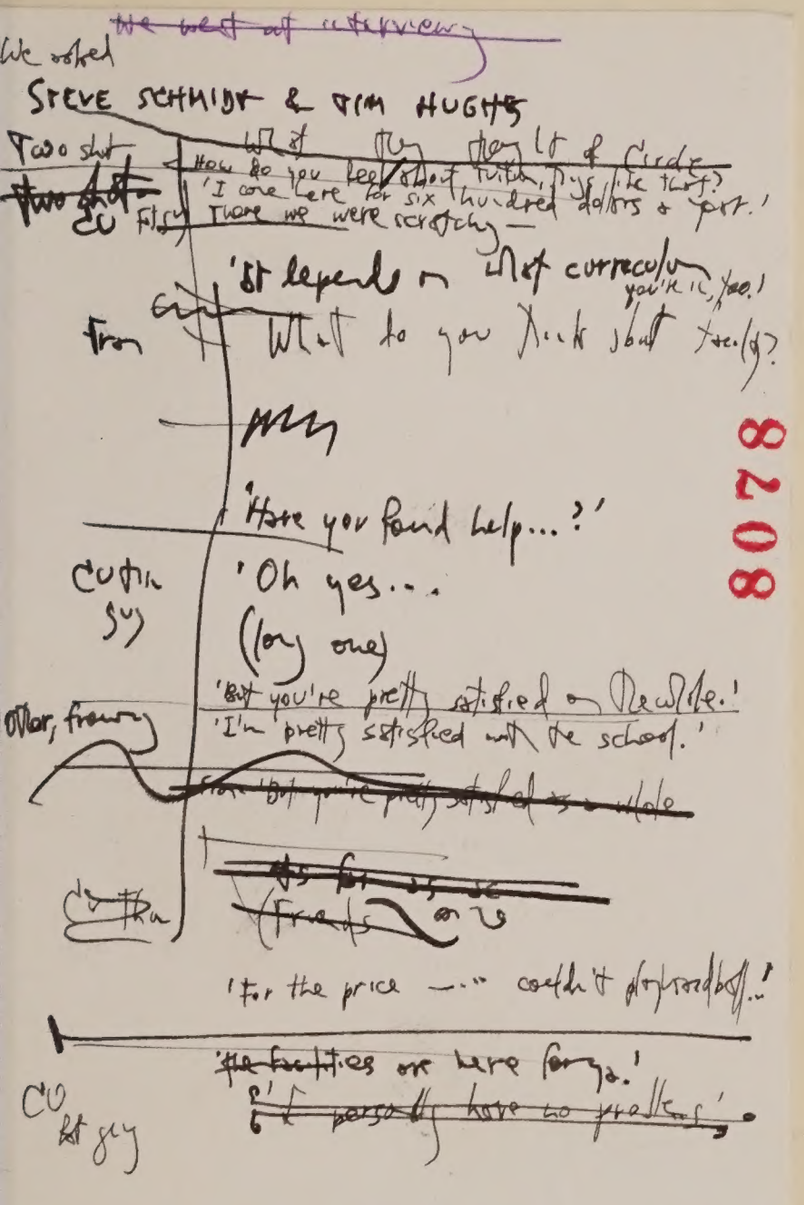
over a dozen separate colleges and schools of Circle offer, over two dozen different degrees, including more than a dozen different degrees at the bachelor's level.



We asked
STEVE SCHMIDT & TIM HUGHES
Two shot
CU
'How do you feel about Austin, I guess like that?'
'I come here for six hundred dollars a year.'
First I were we were scratchy—
'It depends on what curriculum you're in, too.'
from
'What do you think about teaching?'
'Have you found help...?'
CU Tim
'Oh yes...
(long one)
'But you're pretty satisfied on the whole.'
'I'm pretty satisfied with the school.'
over, from
'For the price —..." couldn't afford better!'
'the facilities are here for us.'
'I personally have no problems.'

~~El~~ MS had a dir | Well ~~see~~, I got fired...

I'm a premed student, isn't everybody?*

CU | I think this is going to be my last private lore...

[BLACK?] So that's what Circle is there for those who are interested and qualified and interested in the special days Circle offers. But of course each individual must find the days that are right for him

ARROW SEQ.

The university has lots of information

For some people, there is an obvious direction to follow;

others feel pressured, as though everything is pointing at them

But the same directions are not necessarily right for everyone

You've got to think things out and find your own direction

{ Perhaps this is one way Circle Chapel can help you.
Perhaps Circle is the place to go your own way.
